

JACOBUS GOLIUS, HAGAE-COMIT.

THE LEARNING AND TEACHING OF ARABIC IN EARLY MODERN EUROPE

SATURDAY, 16 NOVEMBER 2013, 10.30–18.45
RIJKSMUSEUM VAN OUDHEDEN, LEIDEN

ASAPH BEN-TOV – ALEXANDER BEVILACQUA – MORDECHAI FEINGOLD
MERCEDES GARCIA-ARENAL – AURELIEN GIRARD – ARNOUD VROLIJK

The Learning and Teaching of Arabic in Early Modern Europe

Encounters with the Orient in Early Modern Europe (EOS)

Saturday, 16 November, 2013,
Leemanszaal, Rijksmuseum van Oudheden, Leiden

Convenor: Jan Loop

Registration: Jane.Ferguson@sas.ac.uk (free)

10:30 REGISTRATION AND COFFEE

11:00 Charles Burnett (Warburg Institute, London), Opening Remarks

Panel 1: Chair: Martin Mulsow (University of Erfurt)*

11:15 Arnoud Vrolijk (University Library, Leiden), *'The usefulness of Arabic'.
The impact of social relevance on the history of Arabic studies in the Netherlands*

12:15 Asaph Ben Tov (University of Erfurt), Johann Zechendorff (1580-1662) and Arabic Studies at Zwickau's Latin School.

13:00 LUNCH

Panel 2: Chair: Outi Merisalo (University of Jyväskylä)

14:00 Alexander Bevilacqua (Princeton University), Arabic in the Classroom of Johann David Michaelis

14:45 Aurélien Girard (Université de Reims Champagne-Ardenne), Is there a Franciscan Arabic? Teaching Arabic in the Order of saint Francis (Rome, 17th century)

15:30 COFFEE BREAK

Panel 3: Chair: Gerard Wiegers (University of Amsterdam)

16:00 Mercedes García-Arenal (Centro de Ciencias Humanas y Sociales, Madrid), Teaching and Learning Arabic in Early Modern Spain

16:45 Mordechai Feingold (California Institute of Technology), *Learning
Arabic in Early Modern England*

17:45 Jan Loop (University of Kent), Concluding Remarks

18:00 DRINKS RECEPTION

Stichting Juynboll
Leiden

BRILL